89 of the best holiday destinations for 2024: a month-by-month guide

Plan a year of adventure with our advice on the best places to visit in each month of the year

Chris Hutton | Security: December 30 2023, 4:02pm, The Times

There's a reason January is the month when our thoughts turn to holidays and escape – the days are short (and cold), and summer feels a very long time away. But what does travel look like in 2024? Experts are predicting more extreme heat – meaning areas like northern Europe and the Baltics will see a boost in tourist numbers – and there will be new FL entry rules to contend with come autumn. That's why we're searched for the very best trips to maximise your holiday this year, whether that's a new flight route to Machu Picchu, exploring Cambodia at the right time to avoid the crowds or hibernating in a new train route from Paris to Portugal. There are 89 ideas in total, so bookmark this page to come back to it later in the year. Happy travel!

January

Puffins, like penguins, are believed to be monogamous, pairing up young and raising a single chick together each year (disclaimer: all puffins look rather similar, so who can be entirely sure?). In mid-March, thousands fly back to the Channel Islands for breeding season and thanks to a quartet of new routes launching this month with Guernsey airline Aurigny – from London City, Stansted, Liverpool and Newquay – you can jet over to catch sight of them. Take a 20-minute ferry ride from St Peter Port in Herm to see the colony feeding off Shell Beach (£16 return; herm.com). Stay at the cosy Les Rocquettes Hotel in St Peter Port.

Shh! These are Europe's best secret beaches

Gallery View Expand View

Clandestine coves

inhabitus images GmbH/Alamy

By scraping TripAdvisor for ratings, text reviews and beaches specifically classified as "hidden gems," BonusFinder has drawn up an expansive ranking of the best secret seaside sites in Europe – from Spain and Scandinavia to Ireland and Italy. Here is a short selection of some of our favourite beaches from the list – and why they're so underrated. Note that many have limited facilities (no sunbeds, parasols, loos, water fountains and so on), so you may need to be prepared when visiting.

Click through this gallery to discover the best secret beaches in the whole of Europe...

Saye Beach, Alderney, Channel Islands

ALDERNEWMAN/Alamy

The most northern of the inhabited Channel Islands and the closest part of the archipelago to France, Alderney is considered something of a best-kept secret in itself. This small rocky outcrop is abundant with wildlife and uncrowded open spaces – Saye Beach being one of its finest. Dusted with white sand washed by clear blue sea, it's perfect for swimming and is right next to a campsite for easy access. You'll often find you have this beach all to yourself (save for the odd seal or oystercatcher), even in peak season.

When you find your perfect holiday, call a sales hotline or visit online. It can be hard to fly to Cornwall in summer when the most desirable part of the year - getting to a suitable airport, with flights or transfers to the beaches and the main towns to suitable destinations, will generally mean a long holiday can be paid - and the holiday itself is often a week or more of a paradise waiting to be explored. Flying every Tuesday in summer 2024.

Guernsey

Discover the enchanting beauty of Guernsey, just a short flight away from Cornwall Airport Newquay. This idyllic island offers a captivating blend of stunning landscapes, rich history, and vibrant culture. With its warm hospitality and endless possibilities for adventure, a Guernsey holiday is an unforgettable escape. As you stroll down at Guernsey's airport, the island's charm will instantly captivate you. With its lush green hills, golden sandy beaches, and crystal-clear waters, it's a paradise waiting to be explored. Flying every Tuesday in summer 2024.

SCOTLAND BY DAY
Late April is an inspired time to explore Scotland. It's one of the dreamiest of all years, visitor numbers are low, the midges have yet to appear and long days make summer feel closer. This small-group Castles and Gardens tour by rail begins in Edinburgh before crossing the Forth Bridge for a night in the Auld, From here, roll north through the Highlands to Inverness, Wick, Plockton and Skye before taking a glastie tour of the Jacobite steam train to Glenelg to Glencoe. The tour ends in Glasgow, where guests can stay a while to explore.

Details: Six nights' B&B from £499pp, including train tickets and some extra transportable costs.

ANGLES' ARIZONA
American photographer Ansel Adams died 40 years ago and this new road trip takes you through 900 miles of the rock-dotted state he snugged in black and white. The 10-day, 1,000-mile road trip isn't the most famous, but, it does raise the down-to-earth road trip of the Canyon de Chelly and Antelope. A friend who's drove this tour in 2022 didn't take a single photo. After seeing Adams' photos at the Center for Creative Photography in Tucson (cccra.org), she said she didn't seem much photo.

Details: Thirteen night, room only from £2,375pp, including flights and hire (bon-voyage.co.uk).

CREATAN EASTER
Who could resist spring in the heart of Ireland? Crete in April is carpeted with flowers and is in the midst of Orthodox Easter celebrations. Crete have spent weeks, sometimes months, preparing for the moment when Christos Anesti — Christ is risen — is announced, and that's when the party starts. Check into the Anomara Village hotel, in the White Mountain village of Yamos, and you'll get the chance to learn Easter recipes and traditions with the village priest. The tradition of the church's Epiath begins with the Easter Vigil on Good Friday.

Details: Seven nights' B&B from £2,907pp, including flights, car hire and transfers (lump-sum-not-refundable.com).

WALKING HIDDEN ALBANIA
Albania hasn't quite reached mainstream status yet, but, with its alluring combination of dramatic ridge-top views, historical attractions and astonishing value for money, it won't be long. A new literary from the National Geographic Traveler, Walks Worldwide, lets you discover the lesser-known coast of the country. A 10-day tour to travel nearly 400 miles through the Llogara National Park, mixing pine forests and coastal villages with vineyards and beaches accessible only by hiking. The longer day's walking is just over seven, and your luggage will be waiting at the next hotel.

Details: Seven nights' B&B, above. Spot price: £1,848pp, plus £139.00pp, including flights and some extra meals (walkworldwide.co.uk).

EASTER SKIING IN NORWAY
Christmas is turning the Easter ski holiday into a mountain mad bash and not if you go to Norway. Skiing may not have the Alpine abundance, it does have snow, and with many winter sports specialties now expanding into Norway, Sweden and Finland, the holiday season is expanding on the increase. Homestead in Norway has 31 ski lifts and 10 trails. A ski pass runs costs £65 and ski rental is about £10 a day. The Pori Resort is a ski in, ski out resort with 10 trails and 10 lifts.

IS THIS THE YEAR YOU VISIT GUERNSEY?

The Islands of Guernsey: Dive into a wild swimmer's playground

It really doesn't matter if you're into your sandy bays or your rocky coves - we've got it all in Guernsey," says Jayne Packham, who swims all year round with local group the Mental Tentacles. "I would recommend getting in touch with some of the local swimming groups. We have a wide variety of swimming groups in Guernsey. There's nothing like a local for knowing their own water."

The Islands of Guernsey, with their tapestry of golden beaches, hidden coves and tidal rock pools, should be on every wild swimmer's bucket list. Whether you're a seasoned winter swimmer ready to thrill to the chill of winter waves or a curious first-timer keen to dip your toes for the first time, the Islands offer a year-round aquatic playground for swimmers of all abilities.

Island that 'looks just like Caribbean' you can fly to for £60

It is less than a two hour direct flight from Liverpool John Lennon Airport

It has been praised for its idyllic beaches (Image: Nicolas Economou/HotPhoto via Getty Images)

There is an island said to look "just like the Caribbean" that people can fly to from Liverpool John Lennon Airport for £60.

With winter still very much here, many people are looking ahead and planning trips to look forward to. Amid the ongoing cost of living crisis, however, money is tight and it can be difficult to travel a bagel bargain.

A new route from Liverpool Airport offers direct flights to the channel island of Guernsey, with trips taking around an hour and a half each way. The "hidden gem" is said to be the perfect place to "get away from it all and recharge the batteries", according to Guernsey's tourism board.

Because of its close proximity to France, Guernsey has a much milder climate than the UK. What's more, the island has also been compared to some far more exotic places, thanks to its idyllic beaches.

TikTok user @lifeinguernsey shared a clip from the place she calls home, and captioned it: "You could be in the Caribbean".

Aurigny will begin its flights to Guernsey from JLA on April 2, with trips operating three times each week. Flight prices start from £59.99.

Nico Beaudouin, CEO of Aurigny, said: "I am thrilled we are poised to become the tenth airline to launch operations from Liverpool Airport. Our upcoming service to and from Guernsey, scheduled from April onward, symbolises our dedication to expanding our network and offering travellers exceptional options.

"We're excited to join the Liverpool Airport family, as we take flight together to unlock new horizons for our passengers, making travel more accessible and memorable than ever before."

42 of the best off-peak trips (and the hacks that save thousands)

We've found the holiday destinations that are even better out of season — with no crowds and much lower prices tags

JAMES STEWART | Sunday February 11, 2024, 1.03pm, The Sunday Times

Peak season will mean different things to different holidaymakers. For a lot of trips, especially within the UK and Europe, the July and August school summer holidays are when prices are highest and flights and hotels busiest. But carnivals, Christmas and other events can spell peak too — as can dry seasons in countries where monsoon can trip play, or where too much water and foliage will make the wildlife more spread out and more easily camouflaged. So there are reasons why peak season attracts higher prices — but there are also plenty of reasons why off-peak trips represent the family choice. Seville, say, is a different Seville in February to the one you'll find in July — but quite possibly a nicer one. The tour operator Intrepid reported a 61 per cent increase in shoulder-season travel to Europe last year, citing anecdotal evidence that travellers were seeking better value, fewer fellow visitors and lower temperatures than in the July-August peak. The same applies in the southern hemisphere, even if our spring is their autumn.

Here's our pick of the best off-season trips for 2024, broken into Europe, long haul and the UK. Please ignore them all. You don't want low season to become the new peak do you?

HEIGHT OF HOLINESS
Riga Cathedral in the Old Town

TUI is re-launching flights to Porto Santo, known as "Madeira's sandy little sister" for its white beaches and rugged mountains. The direct Gatwick service will run weekly from May, with return fares starting at £290 taking three hours and 45 minutes. tui.co.uk/flights

Ride's exciting ingredients
It's chocs away for sweetie fans visiting Cadbury World as it unveils a brand new indoor ride, Cadbury Chocolate Fest, opening in spring. The trackless attraction will see guests set a mission by Cadbury character Freddie before they jump aboard a car to collect ingredients to make Dairy Milk using lasers to zap them up. Guests will then pick up a Cadbury treat made with everything they have 'collected'. Using 3D sets and virtual screens, Cadbury Chocolate Quest — which is part of an £8 million investment for Cadbury World — will replace ride Cadabra which is closing after 27 years.

Tim Waters, regional director of the Birmingham cluster at Merlin Entertainment, said: "The inspiration behind the new ride comes from larger ambitions for Cadbury World, and we're excited for guests to enjoy what's in store." cadburyworld.co.uk

Others include the Museum of Horns and Anders, and a museum dedicated to Baron Munchausen! The markets of Riga and the Latvian National Opera shouldn't be missed either. The Opera House is a spectacular old-style theatre with post boxes and an orchestra pit. Tickets range from €11 to €50.

I had time to buy a few souvenirs at the restored Agonalska Market, dating back to 1898. It reopened in 2022 after a four-year renovation. On the first floor, you can sample local farmers' and traders' wares, up a storey are cool bars and cafes. After soaking up the beauty of this cosmopolitan capital, unwind with a few drinks and a bite to eat. A pint of beer or a glass of wine costs about €3 to €7, depending on the location. I loved Mr Beer taphouse with its vast array of craft beers and interesting seating, such as a motorbike or a car. The Thirsty Bulldog sports bar in the Old Town has a great selection of beers and snacks and eight screens showing sports. Admiring the city while sipping cocktails in Skyline bar on the 26th floor of the Radisson Blu was another high.
